Just How Far Back Does 'Green Thumb' Saying Originate?

LET'S get something started, now that Spring officially has arrived.

It seems to me that I've heard the term, "green thumb," ever since I've known that the thumb is the awkward digit on the inner side when the palms are down and the outer side when they're up, and since I knew that green comes from mixing your yellow and blue water colors.

Doesn't it seem that you've heard it all your life? Farther back than 1925? It does to me.

ANYHOW, this month the Daily Register received a letter from Mumm, Mullay and Nichols, Inc., dealers in advertising, and signed by M. L. Mullay himself, because Mumm probably was out heroically keeping down offensive odors. And this letter dealt with the green thumb. I know that there's some publicity connected with it but I can't find it; so read it:

"I am at the end of my rope as a researcher," Mr. Mullay bemoans, then continues:

"Why does everyone say that the successful gardener has a green thumb?"

"Over a year ago I was asked to find the origin of that charming belief. All I have succeeded in learning is that everyone knows the significance of green thumb but no one seems to know where it originated.

"Horticultural authorities just scratch their heads or offer widely different explanations. Ordinary people say they've heard their parents or grandparents use the term. Many think it goes back hundreds of years.

"Yet the earliest recorded mention of a green thumb that I have found dates back only to 1925.

"Here is a real mystery: not of world-shattering significance, perhaps, but mightily fascinating right now, when Spring is in the air, the early bird is after the worm and every newspaper reader's thumb is daily growing greener.

"Would readers of The Register like to pursue this problem — and maybe help us find a satisfying answer?"

P. S.: Does anyone even know the author of this familiar verse?:"

"Denied are the secrets
Of soil, seed and weather,
To thousands had a green nose,
To put them together.

But, certain as morning,
Success seems to come
To those chosen people
Who have a green thumb."

What do you know about the green thumb? Only thing I know about it is that I had one the last time I painted the lawn furniture a nice lawn green but the green thumb was nothing exclusive because I also had a green nose, green elbows, green palms and green locks.

Webb Shows Films Of Hawaii to Rotarians, Ladies

Rotarians observed Ladies' Night at their weekly dinner meeting last evening, with members, their wives and guests enjoying movies taken by Dr. L. L. Webb on his recent trip to Hawaii.

Club president D. H. Hiller presided at the meeting. Following introductions, President Hiller presented the newly-elected officers and then introduced Dr. Webb as speaker for the evening.

Dr. Webb spoke briefly about the length of time he and his wife were away on the trip and how much was seen and how many miles were traveled in the short span. He gave his listeners a glowing account of the Hawaiian islands, listing two things as most memorable to him. One was the climate, which he said, rarely dipped below 60 or soared above 80 degrees. Most of the time, the temperature remains in the seventies, he related. The other thing which impressed him was the extent to which the island people go to make tourists welcome.

He listed sugar cane, pineapple and the tourist trade as the outstanding industries of the islands, in that order.

During the showing of the three reels, he related incidents about the scenic beauty and customs of the people. Mrs. Webb assisted in part by describing and naming the many beautiful flowers shown. All of the movies were in gorgeous color.

Among the breath-taking shots were some of the sunsets, rain-bows, volcanic eruptions, native dances, flowers, roadways and beach scenes.

Dulles Expects French Victory In Indochina

Says Nothing Has Happened to Change Plan for Winning War

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles expressed optimism today that French forces will win the war in Indochina, despite evidence the Chinese Communists want to prolong the fighting.

Dulles sees no prospect of military reverses serious enough to upset the Navarre plan for winning the war. Under that plan, the French expect to defeat the Communist rebels in about a year.

Dulles said nothing has happened yet on the battlefield to shake his confidence in the French plan.

Dulles told a news conference both sides may win local victories but he does not expect the Communists to win domination of Indochina.

Asked if the United States policy is still geared to a military victory in Indochina, Dulles said he sees no reason to abandon the Navarre plan for winning at least decisive military results over the Communists if not complete victory.

Response to Aid Requests
A reporter asked what effect this policy would have on the Indochinese discussions at the April 26 Geneva conference since French victory apparently is not in sight for at least a year.

Dulles replied the United States would like to see evidence that the Chinese Reds are willing to cut off military assistance to the Indochinese rebels and thus show they are no longer military aggressors in spirit.

In answer to another question, however, Dulles said there is no evidence the Chinese Communists have changed their aggressive mood.

Dulles said he knows of no plans to send additional American aircraft to Indochina. But he pointed out this is primarily a Defense Department matter. He said he may learn about plans for additional aid soon from visiting French Gen. Paul Ely and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Dulles said the United States has been responding as rapidly as possible to all French requests for help. The military, he added, will try to meet further French requests as they are made.

FISHING'S GOOD IN FLORIDA—Wilson Pankey, Dr. J. C. Lightner and J. R. Metcalf, left to right, all local residents who are vacationing in Florida, have been catching quite a few fish lately, as can be proved by the above catch on St. Patrick's Day. The string of Reds (Channel bass) were caught from Dr. Lightner's boat and a couple of them weighed 9½ and 10½ pounds. Metcalf, who caught the 10 pounder, said they were using light spinning tackle, 8 pound test with a 6½ foot rod, and it took about 30 minutes to land the 10 pound fish. He stated that Oliver Woods had just arrived that day and that "fishing will really pick up."

Student Doesn't Remember Killing Coach

ALEDO, Ill. (UP)—James Gipson, an 18-year-old high school senior on trial for the murder of a high school track coach, testified Monday that he didn't remember stabbing the instructor.

However, Gipson said he remembered having a knife in his hand during a brawl involving Gipson, two other students and George Marich, 26, the slain coach.

The youth said the last thing he remembered was Marich coming toward him.

Gipson's testimony marked the start of the second week of the trial. It came before a packed courtroom and after Judge Leonard E. Telleen ordered Mrs. Rose Marich, mother of the dead man, to leave the courtroom.

She had interrupted the trial last week by screaming at Gipson: "He killed my son, he's a murderer." Marich's widow left the room with Mrs. Marich.

Gipson testified that he, his brother Charles, 19, and John Hollis, 18, were summoned from a study hall by Marich who had charge of the room. Gipson said Marich wanted the boys to explain a disturbance in the study hall.

Gipson said he had a knife in his hand but the blade was closed when Marich told him to put it away. He testified he started to put the knife in his pocket when he saw his brother strike Marich, a 200-pound ex-football player.

Then, Gipson said, Marich hit his brother and shoved him (Gipson) backward.

Gipson said he started toward Marich but did not remember taking out the knife or swinging at the coach.

In reply to a direct question, Gipson said he was "afraid of Marich."

Stevenson to Rest at Farm Home of Sister

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson was to begin a "needed" rest at the picturesque farm home of his sister today after an "exhausting" nationwide speaking tour.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, accompanied by his administrative assistant, William McCormick Blair, was expected to arrive at Raleigh, 55 miles northeast of here, from Newark, N. J., by plane late today.

After a visit with Gov. William B. Umstead, he planned to motor to the "Paint Hill Farm" home of his sister, Mrs. Ernest L. Ivey, and her husband, in the sandhills country near here.

Stevenson expects to devote the vacation to golfing and riding before his next major political address on April 2 before a Young Democrats' rally at Charlotte, N. C. He will, however, make a brief talk to Moore County Democrats at a Friday night reception at nearby Carthage.

Mrs. Ivey said the Democratic Party leader "is exhausted and needs a rest."

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home. Rev. Ernest Ammon and Rev. Tommie Guest will officiate at the service, and burial will be in the Salem cemetery near Carrier Mills.

He is survived by his wife and three children, Kenneth, Harrisburg, Donald, Big Lake, Minn., and Mrs. Lucille Hise, Harrisburg; five grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Devault, Cobden, Ill., and Mrs. Ida Mize, East St. Louis.

Library Board Urges Gifts of Memorial Books

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Mitchell Carnegie public library, a resolution was passed to promote the giving of memorial books. The suggestion for this came from Mrs. J. B. Blackman, a board member who was also a member of the first library board appointed in 1908.

And whose interest has never ceased although Mrs. Blackman has for the past several months been confined to her home, due to a hip injury.

As memorial books come in, a special place for them will be set aside, a memorial book plate is to be purchased showing the names of the donor and the person honored. In addition a memorial roll will be kept in a special book.

It is hoped that friends of the library will be interested in this project and that the number of memorial books will increase rapidly. The idea of memorial books has been under consideration by several organizations. The Harrisburg Woman's club is considering presenting a book instead of flowers at the death of a member.

The American Legion Auxiliary last fall presented two books to the library honoring two of their deceased members, namely, Scott, "God is My Co-Pilot" and Marshall, "A Man Called Peter" in memory of Mrs. Gerald (Maude) Roberts and Mrs. Tom (Mae) Smith. Other organizations have discussed similar plans and it is hoped that individuals and organizations interested will help promote this collection.

Please contact the library staff and have their assistance and suggestions in the selection of books to conform to library regulations and to avoid duplications. Only new books and those of such general interest as to promise circulation are desired.

In establishing this collection it is hoped the reading public will be greatly benefitted by the donation of many beautifully artistic and outstanding books.

Editor Proposes Recall Election Of Sen. McCarthy

Wisconsin Officials Study Machinery If Plan Succeeds

SAUK CITY, Wis. (UP)—Editor Leroy Gore today called a meeting for Sunday to set up a state-wide organization to run the recall campaign he started for Sen. Joseph McCarthy's seat.

Gore had planned originally to hold the organizational meeting April 4, but said today he felt the response to the proposal was too large to delay two weeks.

Meanwhile, support continued to come in for the small town weekly newspaper's campaign. Although both the state CIO and AFL declined to take official parts in the campaign, some CIO locals were joining. Gore said he got nearly 1,000 letters Monday, which was more mail than the whole village got, according to the postmaster.

Opinions Vary
The Gore plan to recall the Wisconsin Republican was being studied by election officials, and opinions varied widely on whether it could be done at a state level.

A recall election for U. S. senator has never been held in Wisconsin and there are varying opinions as to exactly what the procedure would be. There was also some question whether anyone but the senators themselves could remove a member once he takes office.

The only time the recall law had been tested was in 1923 when a state senator was forced to go before the people again. He was re-elected.

Gore said more than 10,000 petitions for a recall election have already been distributed, with room for about 20 signatures on each. A total of more than 400,000 would be needed, however, since the law calls for one-quarter of the total vote for governor in the preceding election.

No Primary
All 400,000 will have to be collected within a 60-day period, one of the most difficult requirements.

If a sufficient number of valid signatures are turned in, the secretary of state will call a special election within 40 to 45 days.

McCarthy's name would go on the ballot automatically. Anyone else who could get at least 3,000 signatures on his nominating papers within 10 or 15 days also would be in the election.

There would be no primary, so it would be impossible to have a large number of Republicans and Democrats all runnings for McCarthy's seat, with the possible result that the anti-McCarthy sentiment would be split up among several candidates. That would give McCarthy a better chance of being re-elected.

A recall election may be held in Wisconsin anytime after an official has been in office a year or more, but only one recall may be instituted during a single term.

Eldorado Man is Robbed, Let Out of Car Near Golconda

An elderly Eldorado man was robbed and dumped at Golconda Saturday night by a man and woman who offered him a ride, officers reported today.

He was George Essary, who had bought a ticket to Wheatley, Ark., and was waiting about 9:30 p. m. in the Eldorado bus station for the bus to come in when he was approached by a woman who said she was going to Arkansas and that he could ride.

A man came in later, it was reported, and he left with them. He told officers that he was robbed of his money and left out of the car near Golconda. It was learned he had around $75 before he bought his bus ticket.

Essary, who was not roughed up in the robbery, was found in Golconda and officers there called Eldorado police, who notified relatives.

Churchill Pledges Britain's Support To U. S. 'Massive Retaliation' Policy

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today pledged Britain's support to the United States policy of "massive retaliation" against aggression.

He reassured uneasy British members of Parliament there is an agreement with the United States that U. S. bases in Britain would not be used in the process of such atomic retaliation without consultation between the two governments.

Churchill told the House of Commons he and President Eisenhower have "smooth and friendly arrangements" for discussing such emergencies as aggression.

In his brief statement, Churchill said the use of U. S. bases in Britain "in an emergency would be a matter for joint decision by the government of the United States and the United States government and the United States stances prevailing at the time."

He said recent statements of United States policy "have been in full accord with this understanding."

Churchill told the House of Commons that he has "smooth and friendly arrangements" with President Eisenhower for discussing such emergencies as aggression.

The Prime Minister added that he is in "full accord" with U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' statement last week, outlining the U. S. strategy of "instant" retaliation in case war starts.

Socialists had challenged Churchill to affirm that such "instant" action would not drag Britain into war without the government knowing in advance.

American air bases in Britain are looked upon as the "front line" of American strategic air power.

On the general question of consultation with President Eisenhower,

Death Takes Mrs. D. B. McGehee

Funeral Services Will Be Held at Her Home Wednesday

Mrs. Clyde McGehee, 73, wife of Dennis B. McGehee, died early yesterday afternoon at her home at 103 North Granger street. She had been in failing health for three years and an invalid for the past year.

She was born July 9, 1880, in Mt. Vernon, Ind., to John L. and Sarah Thompson.

Mrs. McGehee was an active member of the P. E. O., a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Sarah Wiedemann circle, an inactive member of the D. A. R. and a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1898.

Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Gordon; two grandchildren, Sarah Elizabeth, 5, and Robert Steven, 3; two brothers, Samuel Thompson, Elizabethtown, and Dr. H. L. Thompson, Long Beach, Calif., who will not be able to come to Harrisburg for the funeral because of poor health, and an aunt, Miss Daisy Gill, Glenwood Springs, Colo.

The body was returned to the residence from the Harrisburg funeral home at 1:30 p. m. today. The funeral will be at the residence Wednesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. John P. Emig officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

The P. E. O. members are asked to serve as flower girls.

Active pallbearers will be Russell Malan, Charley Wilson, Lawrence George, Howard Renshaw, Lowell Renshaw, and Louis Humm. Honorary pallbearers are to be John B. Lee, Herman Towle, Ray Durham, Lloyd L. Parker, George Davenport, John R. Jackson and R. D. Brown.

Dick Haymes is Ordered Deported To Argentina

WASHINGTON (UP)—Singer Dick Haymes today was ordered deported to his native Argentina.

The order was based on charges Haymes was ineligible to re-enter the continental United States after making a trip to Hawaii last June to see his present wife, Rita Haymes.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. said the deportation order was issued by special inquiry officer Joseph A. Dummel of the Immigration Service after Haymes was given a hearing.

The Justice Department said Haymes is ineligible to enter this country because in World War II, he asked to be excused from military service on grounds he was a subject of a neutral nation. Because of this request, it said, Haymes is forever barred from obtaining U. S. citizenship and as such is excludable from this country.

Haymes has 10 days in which to appeal Dummel's decision to the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Willing to Give Up Committee Post for Probe

Republican Leaders Demand Senator Step Down for Investigation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said today he is willing to have another senator appointed to his place on his investigating subcommittee as long as he retains the right to cross-examine witnesses in his dispute with the Army.

In the face of rising demands by Republican leaders that he step down from the subcommittee for the investigation of his row with the Army, McCarthy said:

"I take the position I will have to have the right to cross-examine witnesses."

Noting that he has given up his voting rights for this investigation, McCarthy said he is not a member of the subcommittee now as far as voting is concerned.

McCarthy said, however, that he is still on the subcommittee "from the standpoint of having the right to cross-examine."

McCarthy said if the other senators on the subcommittee want to appoint another senator to the group for the length of the hearings he has "no objection."

Committee Divided
With McCarthy not exercising his voting privileges, the subcommittee is now evenly divided — three Republicans and three Democrats. The additional member presumably would be a Republican.

The role of McCarthy during an investigation in which he personally is involved is one of the thorny issues facing the subcommittee in laying plans for the hearings.

Some leading Republicans, including National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, urged that it would be "fair play" for McCarthy to step aside temporarily. It was hinted that President Eisenhower may publicly express the same view at his news conference Wednesday.

Hold Secret Session
White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether Mr. Eisenhower agrees with Hall.

"I think I know how the President feels," Hagerty said, "and I suggest you ask him at tomorrow's press conference."

Members of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, including the Wisconsin Republican, had a one-hour secret session today on plans for the forthcoming investigation of Army charges that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, used pressure to get favored treatment for a drafted McCarthy investigator.

Temporary Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-Sd. D.) said they named a "subcommittee on ground rules" to suggest procedures to keep the hearing "completely, totally and demonstrably fair." Members were Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

The subcommittee, meanwhile faced so many other problems, as it met that there were indications the inquiry might not get underway next Monday at it has hoped.

For one thing, temporary Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-Sd. D.) still hasn't been able to line up a prominent attorney to serve as counsel for the investigation although he hoped to have one on tap for today's "progress report" meeting.

William J. Jameson of Billings, Mont., president of the American Bar Association, turned down the job. He explained late Monday that ABA board members objected to his getting into something so controversial.

There was sharp disagreement in the subcommittee over McCarthy's proposal that all witnesses in the case be asked to submit to lie detector tests. Potter denounced the idea Monday night as "a lot of poppycock" that would turn the hearings into a "three-ring circus."

Clyde Soward, 69, who for 25 years served as county superintendent of highways in Hardin county, died at noon Monday at the Hardin County General hospital in Rosiclare.

Mr. Soward was also an automobile dealer in Rosiclare, where he made his home. The body now lies in state at the Hosick funeral home, and the funeral will be Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Rosiclare Methodist church. Rev. O. E. Connett will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Fluorine cemetery.

He was a brother of the late state's attorney, Clarence Soward, of Hardin county, and Mrs. Fern Patton, nurse at the Harrisburg hospital.

"Omigosh!"

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Sen. McCarthy Directs Attention From Communist Problems Abroad; Admiral Radford Concentrates On These Problems; Naval Blockade Urged As Weapon In Indo-China.

WASHINGTON. — It may take months or even years for the American public to realize it, but one thing Senator McCarthy has done to our current-day thinking is to divert attention rather disastrously from the problem of communism abroad.

When the average newsman covering Washington sits down at his typewriter every day, he just naturally gravitates toward writing the most interesting news of the day, which most of the time revolves round the gymnastic gyrations of the senator from Wisconsin. The same is true of most editors when they make up their paper.

Meanwhile the Communists are winning victories in other parts of the world which might well put us back to the war era when we had to walk for lack of tires and saved toothpaste tubes for lack of tin. This time, however, the tin and rubber areas of Southeast Asia are falling into the hands of the Reds, not the Japanese.

Here are some of the vital events, reported by diplomatic cables, which affect every American but which Americans read much less about than they do of Joe McCarthy.

In Saigon the American embassy reports a wave of defeatism is spreading through Indo-China. Important native leaders, hitherto on the fence, are jumping to the Communist side because they want to be with the winner.

In Washington the Joint Chiefs of Staff are so worried about Indo-China that arms to the French in that country have been given priority over supplies to our own troops in Korea.

In Paris Foreign Minister Bidault has held a series of meetings with U. S. Ambassador Dillon in which he warned that the Laniel government will fall unless France yields in Indo-China and negotiates an armistice. And if Laniel falls, Ambassador Dillon has been warned that the next premier will be Mendes-France, a neutralist, who would wreck the North Atlantic defenses against Russia. This has become the most urgent problem facing Secretary Dulles.

FARSIGHTED RADFORD
The one man in Washington who has been most farsighted about the problem of Indo-China is Adm. Arthur Radford, dynamic chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Admiral Radford, in more ways than one, is the Admiral Leahy of the Eisenhower administration.

It was Admiral Leahy, chief military adviser to FDR, who saw far in advance the consequences of Japanese encroachment on China, and who as early as 1936 sold Roosevelt the idea of a naval blockade of Japan in order to stop aggression before it became firmly entrenched.

Roosevelt and Sumner Welles both bought Leahy's idea, but it was finally sabotaged by Cordell Hull, then secretary of state, and his more timid advisers with deft assistance from certain European chancelleries.

Many diplomats now agree, however, that if the Leahy plan had been put across it would have proved such an object lesson to Hitler and Mussolini that World War II could have been averted.

Admiral Radford has had similar ideas about the importance of stopping Communist aggression in Indo-China. He feels that if the Reds swarm over this strategic peninsula, the rice bowl for much of Asia, it will be a mere matter of months before they also swarm over the rubber-and-tin Malays, Indonesia, Burma, and eventually India.

KREMLIN'S STRATEGY
Most observers, including this one, believe Radford is right. In fact the long-range strategy of the Kremlin undoubtedly is to combine the raw materials of southeast Asia with the manpower of China and the industrial energy of Japan. Combination of the three could rule the Orient for years to come, might even challenge the western world.

Though Radford has been persuasive at the White House he has not been able to sell a complete bill of goods to the President. He has, however, to many in the Pentagon. Incidentally, this column was in error recently in stating that Radford sold like on sending airplane mechanics to Indo-China without the knowledge of Secretary Wilson. Though he did sell Ike, he had Wilson's okay on this; also on urging Ike to increase the number of active airplane carriers. He did not operate behind Wilson's back.

But though Radford has produced much better teamwork on the Joint Chiefs of Staff than most people expected, he has not been able to put across his idea for a naval blockade of the Red China or Indo-China coast.

This was the original strategy of Admiral Leahy under Roosevelt, and is based on the theory that the American navy, most powerful in the world and with ships lying idle in many ports, could stifle Communist trade in the Orient and force an end of the hostilities without firing a shot.

This is also why Radford doesn't believe in relying entirely on push-button warfare and wants to keep an active navy.

Those who don't agree with Radford point to the possibility of Communist retaliation, to British timidity and to the difficulty of getting U. N. support. They also say it may now be too late.

President Eisenhower has stood about midway between the dynamic chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and his less daring diplomatic advisers.

Meanwhile it's an almost inescapable fact that, unless drastic steps are taken, Indo-China will go Communist before the end of the year, with Southeast Asia, which an American army and navy fought a war of the Pacific to save, following later.

Neglect One of Greatest Wreckers of Automobiles

DETROIT (UP) — More cars are wrecked through neglect each year than hit all the lamp posts in the world.

The wrecking process is a slow one but it is infinitely more certain than tangling with a truck.

Many a "careful" driver will ride by a highway smash-up and exclaim, "Boy, look at that pile of junk." All the time he may be resting his foot on the clutch or driving with insufficient oil.

His "wreck" may not be as spectacular but it can be just as costly — unless he unloads on someone else who eventually will have to foot the repair bills.

The single, most expensive unit of a car is its engine-transmission. Yet it suffers more abuse than the family wheelbarrow. Particularly in cold weather.

"Gunning" Hurts Engine

Few drivers warm up an engine properly before taking off. And some of those who do for some odd reason think it necessary to "gun" the engine a few times.

The oil that lubricates the engine must be warm to work effectively. If it isn't the wear on engine parts when the brunt of the friction load should be on the oil.

Gunning the engine before it is warm accomplishes the same wear. Raw gas from a little pump in the carburetor is squirted into the combustion chambers, washing the cylinder walls of oil. Excessive choking is a good "washer," too.

Dirty oil is a fast way to wreck an engine. It works like sandpaper, slow but sure. The oil filter will take some of the grit and sludge out, but it has to be changed regularly to do any good.

Preventive Maintenance

The best way to make sure that your car is properly serviced is to stay right with the attendant while he does it. He works from a diagram chart which is easy to follow. Even if you can't, your presence may keep him from doing the job "once over lightly."

One of the first things to go on a car without proper care is the exterior. Salt in the winter, heat and grit in the summer and fumes all the time keep eating away.

Here it is a case of preventive maintenance. Chrome pocked by rust can't be restored by a "cleaner." And wax doesn't put any color in oxidized paint.

There are many good preservatives on the market for both chrome and finish. They should be applied regularly. This should be topped off with a washing once each week if possible with clear water. A mild soap, if rinsed immediately, can be used on the dirtier spots.

Miss Mary Lee Chamberlain, S-Sgt. Earl S. Cooley Jr. Wed in Double-Ring Ceremony

Before an open fireplace decorated with baskets of white gladioli and tulips, flanked by two candles containing seven candles each, against a background of greenery, Miss Mary Lee Chamberlain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Chamberlain, 209 East Dayton, and Earl S. Cooley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Cooley Sr., Centerville, Iowa, were married by the Rev. Ned Sutton, cousin of the bride.

The double ring ceremony took place at the bride's home Tuesday evening, March 16.

The bride chose for her wedding a tailored dress of powder blue wool with rhinestone buttons and elbow length sleeves. Her accessories were navy. She carried an orchid encircled in white feather carnations with white streamers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Edgar A. Logsdon, sister of the bride, was dressed in a gray wool dress with pink trim and black accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink charm carnations.

Emil Sutton, uncle of the bride, 806 South Main street, Harrisburg, served as best man.

Mrs. Chamberlain chose for her daughter's wedding a navy nylon dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of powder blue gladioli.

During the ceremony Miss Peggy Fulkerson played at the piano, "Poem," "Because," and the traditional wedding march.

For the reception which followed the dining table was decorated with a lace cloth over yellow, a bowl of pink snapdragons, tulips and pink rose buds, and centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, which was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Emil Sutton, who assisted Mrs. Norma Jean Brown, Shawneetown, as hostess.

The bridegroom is a staff sergeant in the Army, and the bride is a nurse.

First Baptist W. M. S. Holds Royal Service Program

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church held its regular monthly business meeting and Royal Service program at the church Thursday afternoon, March 18.

During the business meeting Mrs. O. C. Heatherly, W. M. U. president, reported that a missionary society had been organized with the women attending the Mission, and that an invitation was extended to members of the First Baptist W. M. S. to visit their meeting at any time.

The program for the afternoon, entitled "Lifting America's Morals," was in charge of Mrs. Corby Wickham. The devotion was given by Mrs. Donald Whitlock, and the following program topics were presented: Mrs. M. R. Williams, "Someone Has to Care," Mrs. S. J. Cole, "What Can We Do About Juvenile Delinquency," Mrs. Wickham, "Racial Prejudice." A trio composed of Mrs. Herman Davis, Mrs. Loren Butler and Mrs. O. C. Heatherly sang "O, Master, Let Me Walk With Thee."

Naomi Ruth Class Meets With Mrs. Bettie Norman

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Bettie Norman for the regular monthly class social.

Mrs. Ruth Gates, class president, was in charge of the meeting which began with the group singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer," after which Mrs. Nancy Sadler led in prayer.

Miss Gertrude Wasson gave the devotion using as her theme, "A Virtuous Woman," reading as her scripture Proverbs 31st chapter.

The eleven ladies present answered roll call with the same verse of scripture and each learned something she had not known before. They had been asked to give a verse of scripture containing the word Calvary and upon searching their Bibles had found Luke 23:33 to be the only place in the Bible where the word Calvary is found.

There were a number of special prayers for the coming revival at the church and Mrs. Hattie Moyer, teacher of the class, asked each lady to write a name of an unsaved person on a slip of paper, place it in their Bibles and pray a special prayer each day for that person.

Mrs. Blanche Shacklett conducted a contest on "Women of the Bible." There are two women mentioned in the Bible that none of the class members had heard of before. Sunshine friends were revealed and names were drawn for new Sunshine friends.

Miss Flora Chambers assisted Mrs. Norman in serving refreshments to the following women not mentioned previously: Mrs. Lois Horner, Mrs. Mary Shell, Mrs. Fannie Owen and Mrs. Lois Lane.

The next social will be at the home of Mrs. Shacklett.

Jim Armistead, who has spent nearly four years in the U. S. Navy, returned home Saturday for a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Armistead, 32 West Park street. He was formerly stationed in Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Beal and sons, Phillip and Bobby Joe, have returned to their home in Gary, Ind., after spending one week visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bowen, her mother, Mrs. Reva Shires, and her sister, Sybil Shires at Nuddy.

Mrs. Fred Thompson, Bankston community, who is in the Barnes hospital in St. Louis, Mo., is not expected to return home for two or three weeks, but she is getting along fine and would be happy to hear from her friends and neighbors in and around Bankston. Her address is Mrs. Anna L. Thompson, care Barnes Hospital, Room 67, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Jess Yates recently returned to her home in Raleigh from a visit in Detroit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cassmer and two children, Doreen and Randy.

Bar President Asks Ceiling on Income Taxes
SPRINGFIELD — The president of the Illinois State Bar Assn. has called for a 25 per cent ceiling on income taxes. Timothy I. He said there should be "a government of the people, by the people, for the people, instead of for the bureaucrats."

Pinckneyville Coach 'Duster' Thomas to Address Carrier Mills Cage Banquet

The annual Carrier Mills high school basketball banquet will be held Thursday evening with members of the Wildcat team guests of honor. The banquet is sponsored annually by the Carrier Mills Lions club.

Coach Merrill "Duster" Thomas of Pinckneyville will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Thomas, who has been coach at Pinckneyville for 15 years, guided his team to third place honors in the 1954 state cage tourney. The team, after dropping a decision to Mt. Vernon in semifinal play, came back strong to drop Edwardsville in the consolation affair for third spot in the big meet.

This marked the third time a Thomas-coached Pinckneyville team had taken third place honors in the state, finishing in that spot in 1947 and 1953 as well as this year.

In 1948 Thomas' team went all the way to take the championship. In the title tilt Pinckneyville defeated East Rockford by a convincing 65-39 count.

Pinckneyville has made the trip to the state meet six of the past eight years, missing out in 1949 and 1950. During these six appearances the team has won 14 times and lost but five decisions.

A member of the Southwestern Egyptian conference, a Thomas team has taken the league title nine of the last 11 years.

Thursday's banquet honoring the Carrier Mills Wildcats will be held in the Masonic temple, with the members of the Eastern Star serving the meal.

Iles Weaver Catches Large Bass

Iles Weaver, Harrisburg service station operator, now holds the honor of having caught the largest bass of 1954 in waters around Harrisburg.

Weaver, fishing yesterday afternoon in the Saline Four pond, caught a bass weighing eight pounds, five and one-half ounces. He caught it using a River Runt plug.

The huge fish was 24 1-2 inches long and its girth was 17 1-4 inches.

Fordy Anderson Named Coach at Michigan State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Athletic Director Ralph H. Young today announced the appointment of Forrester (Fordy) Anderson of Bradley University as head basketball coach at Michigan State.

Anderson succeeds Pete Newell, who recently resigned to become head basketball coach at the University of California. Anderson is scheduled to take over his new duties May 1.

Anderson will bring an outstanding record to Michigan State. In nine years of coaching, his teams have won 205 games and lost 84. His 1953-54 Bradley team reached the final of the NCAA Basketball Tournament, losing to La Salle last Saturday night at Kansas City.

Anderson, a native of Gary, Ind., and graduate of Stanford University, began his coaching career at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where he served one year before moving to Drake. After two years at Drake, he became head coach at Bradley.

'Pete' Truran Named Coach at Johnston City

James "Pete" Truran, a hometown boy, has been named head coach of all sports at Johnston City high school, succeeding Wendell Starick who resigned recently.

Named assistant to Truran was Tom Peeler, formerly of Anna who served the past year as an assistant at Johnston City.

Orioles Still Pay Discharged Managers

BILL DEWITT
He gets $25,000

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

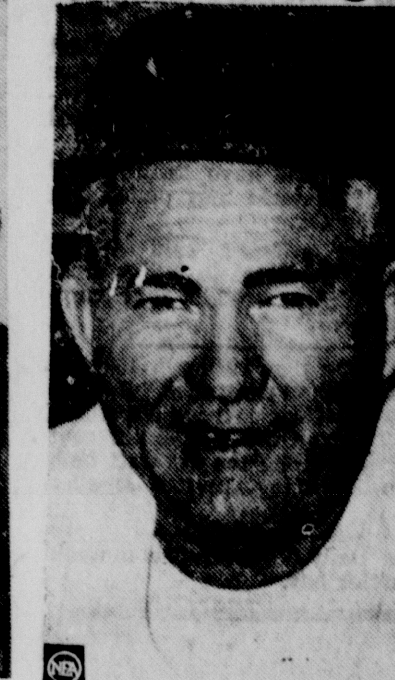

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Rogers Hornsby is being paid $18,000 for not managing the Orioles.

Marty Marion is getting $30,000 for doing the same.

William O. DeWitt is drawing $25,000 for not being vice-president of the Orioles.

Bill Veech, you see, left the new Baltimore club with considerably more than an exhibition game schedule that keeps it on the road.

While the Orioles shuttle about the Arizona desert, Bill DeWitt, who knows more about them than anybody else, suns himself at Al Lang Field here. DeWitt, who broke into baseball as the Browns' office boy 38 years ago, has a contract running through July, 1956. It's nice work if you can get it.

ROGERS HORNSBY
He gets $18,000

Slats Marion was fired when he told the incoming general manager, Arthur H. Ehlert, the truth about the Orioles. Ehlert, the reformed bowling alley proprietor, said Marion had a defeatist complex. This is the same Marion who shortstopped the Cardinals to four pennants and three world championships in five years. The only thing wrong with Marion when he was canned was that he had not yet fully recovered from watching the Browns lose an even 100 games.

Jimmy Dykes hopes to do better largely because he couldn't possibly do much worse, but James J. To, shortly will find out that the Orioles also are paying a number of ballplayers for not playing ball.

The Orioles wouldn't be too bad if Manager Dykes possessed and could use good hitters to bat for Bill Hunter and Bobby Young, a fine defensive second base combination, and Gil Coan or Chuck Diering in center field.

If two extraordinary and big right-hand prospects, Bob Turley and Don Larsen, live up to early promise, the pitching could be the brightest spot.

Eddie Waitkus and Dick Kryhoski will alternate at first base with the recently-purchased Waitkus in line for the job, thanks to Kryhoski's wrist injury and his inability to hit southpaws.

Dykes is attempting to get a final bit of mileage out of Junior Stephens at third base, where Jim Dyck also is available.

Sam Mele, Vic Wertz and Dick Kokos may be able to generate some power in the outfield, although Wertz has grown progressively worse the past three campaigns and Kokos lost the home run range he had in 1949 and '50.

Jim Fridley, the Cleveland bust, is up from San Antonio, where he had 26 home runs batting .293.

Perhaps the best future ballplayer in camp is 23-year-old Jimmy Pisoni, whom Dykes has been using in center field. Pisoni, who lives a block from where Yogi Berra and Joe Garagiola grew up on The Hill in St. Louis, is exceptionally fast and throws like Carl Furillo.

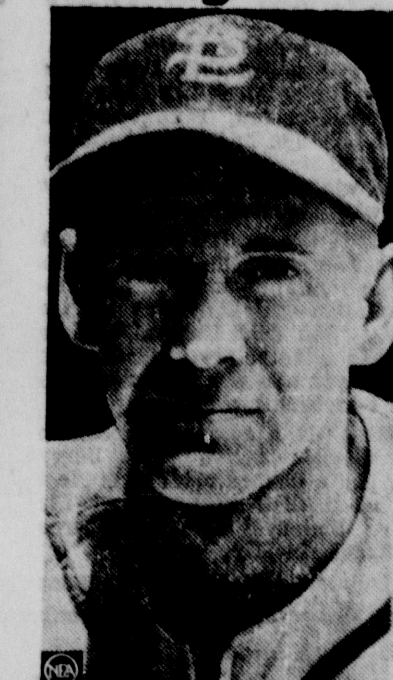

Coming out of the service last season, his third in organized baseball, Pisoni served with three clubs, the longest stretch with Anderson, S. C., of the B Tri-State League, where in 57 games, he batted .323 with 12 home runs that helped him drive in 55 runs. He probably will be sent out, for he is much too bright a prospect to sit on the bench.

Unless Les Moss' stomach disorder disappears, Art Ehlert may have to dig up an experienced catcher to assist bulldog Clint Courtney.

There are worse pitchers than Duane Pilette. Joe Coleman threatens to stage a comeback. Dick Littlefield is overdue. Mike Blyzka grew wild. Familiar pitching names are Vern Bickford, Howie Fox, Lou Kretlow and Frank Fanovich. Rindol Duren led the Texas League in strikeouts, had an earned-run average of 2.63. Jim Post got into 31 games for Toronto, came out with an ERA of 3.73. Marlin Stuart is the number one relief pitcher.

But Marty Marion had the right hands today.

This outfit may mark a new era in baseball history, but it isn't going to add to Baltimore's rich heritage of famous teams and players.

Two teams from Horace Mann and one from Logan were victorious yesterday afternoon in the opening games of the fifth and sixth grade basketball tournaments in progress at the Junior high school.

In fifth grade games Horace Mann beat Dorrisville, 28 to 9, and Logan dropped McKinley, 37 to 14. Horace Mann eliminated McKinley 41 to 20, in a sixth grade contest.

This afternoon three more games are on schedule—between Logan and Dorris Heights sixths, Lincoln and Bayliss fifths and Liberty and Dorrisville sixths.

Games originally were scheduled for tomorrow afternoon but will be played Thursday instead because of a league number. This means the Wednesday games will be on Thursday, the Thursday games on Friday and the finals on Monday instead of Friday.

The Thursday games will pit Dorris Heights against the Lincoln-Bayliss winner in a fifth grade game and the Bayliss sixth against the winner of Liberty vs. Dorrisville sixth graders.

Musial Sparks Cardinals in Win Over Phils

By United Press

Stan Musial, who is trying to give the St. Louis Cardinals a rosier pennant complexion, was tanning rival pitchers today even more than the celebrated Florida sun.

Musial, stopped only by the White Sox hurlers this spring, made a shambles of four Phillies' flingers who faced him Monday with a homer, a triple and a single that were the highlights in St. Louis' 9-3 conquest.

In the 14 games the Cardinals have played so far, Musial has hit safely in 12 of them, failing to connect only in two games against the White Sox.

First baseman Dick Gernert of the Red Sox enjoyed a good day, also, by blasting two homers and driving in another run with a sacrifice fly as he paced Boston to a 4-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves. Bill Henry, Tom Herrin and Ellis Kinder limited the Braves to six hits.

Dodgers Beat Pittsburgh
Sandy Amoros, making a bid for outfield employment with the Dodgers, delivered a single with two out in the ninth inning to drive in the run that beat Pittsburgh, 2-2. Amoros double in the fifth inning also drove in Brooklyn's second run.

Ex-American Leaguer Howie Judson limited Detroit to one run in six innings in pitching Cincinnati to a 4-3 decision at Lakeland, Fla. The victory was a costly one for the Redlegs, however, as shortstop Roy McMillan suffered a spike wound on his right instep that required 22 stitches. McMillan, who was spiked by Tiger catcher Johnny Bucha in a play at second base, is expected to be out of action for about a week or 10 days.

The champion Yankees mauled the Athletics, 12-6, in gaining their second straight triumph.

Southpaws Alex Kellner and Morris Martin were racked for 16 hits by the Yankees, including a homer, double and two singles by first baseman Bill Skowron and four doubles by Bob Cerv.

Although the Chicago Cubs enjoyed a day off at their Mesa, Ariz., training site, Manager Phil Cavarretta announced that Hank Sauer and Frank Baumholtz might share the right field assignment this season.

Sweet Sixteen Coaches Face Rebuilding Jobs for Next Season's Squads

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Most building job at Edwardsville, the No. 4 Sweet Sixteen quintet. He'll have to replace forwards Bob Gregor and Don Dudacek, big center Jim Heeren and ace guard Don Ohl, all seniors.

Of the four teams which lost in the quarterfinals, Barrington and Quincy will have big gaps to fill but Moline and Thornton look like they'll be in good shape.

Whitey Verstraete, the impressive Moline forward, has one more year to play. So does first-string guard John Meyers and three reserves on the Moline tournament team. Biggest losses will be felt by the graduation of forward Dick Dhaball and guards Adrian Winters and Bob Gunter.

Russ McKibben, rated by Thornton Coach Tom Nisbet as one of the finest players he's coached, is only a junior. The 6-foot 3 1/2-inch forward will be joined by three other members of this year's team next season.

Danville Loses Two
Cumberland, the Eastern Illinois team that gave Thornton some trouble at the start of their first-round game, can look forward to one more year from star 6-foot 4-inch center Lloyd Eggers.

Five juniors who got into Danville's lineup against Mount Vernon are available for another year, but the Maroons are bound to miss seniors Frank Estes and Jim Righter, their leading scorers in that game.

Bowen, Peoria Central, Rockford East, and Litchfield all lose most of their 1954 Sweet Sixteen squads. Princeton can make use of the services of 6-foot 6-inch center Joe Krucklick one more year, while Springfield has at least one more year coming from eight of the 10 members of its squad.

West All-Stars Defeat East Squad, 81 to 73

Rio Grande Coach Pulls Team Off Floor in 56-50 Loss

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The West All-Stars led all the way Monday night as they trimmed the East, 81-73, in the third annual Shrine charity basketball game.

Although the Westerners, coached by Nibs Price of California, enjoyed comfortable leads at the end of every quarter, they had to rally to stave off a last minute push by the Easterners, tutored by Kentucky's Adolph Rupp.

Bob Pettit, Louisiana State's great center, led the scoring with 21 points, closely followed by teammate Bob Mattick of Oklahoma A&M, who got 18. Frank Ramsey of Kentucky led the East with 14 points.

The game was preceded by one between Rio Grande College and Bevo Francis and Rockhurst of Kansas City. That game developed more fireworks than the all-star finale as Rio Grande Coach Newt Oliver pulled his team off the floor with 1:30 to play because three technical fouls were called against him in quick succession.

Rockhurst was declared winner of the game, 56-50, the count when Oliver got peeved at the third technical foul called against his Ohio team within a few minutes.

It appeared Oliver and Rio Grande's troubles, nationally prominent a year ago when Francis' fabulous freshman scoring records were disallowed because of the quality of his opposition, might be magnified.

Al Duer, executive secretary of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, which Rio Grande joined to avoid criticism of the caliber of teams it plays, indicated official action might be taken.

"This sort of thing just isn't done," Duer said.

How Mercury's New 161-Horsepower Engine gives you a new measure of safety

If you'll get behind the wheel of a new 1954 Mercury and take it out on the open road, we think you'll find this new engine gives you the most instantly responsive power you've ever known. Even when you're cruising at normal highway speeds, you have instant acceleration that lets you pass another car and get back in the right-hand lane in a few safe seconds.

It's not just a matter of high horsepower. It's power that's instantly available because of a new Mercury development—a 4-barrel carburetor, with the two rear barrels vacuum-operated to cut in automatically when reserve power is needed for an extra margin of safety.

Mercury's new engine combines with new ball-joint front wheel suspension to give you a new kind of power that makes any driving easy. And you can add even more to Mercury's driving ease with a choice of 5 optional power features—like the 4-way power seat.

You'll find this new 1954 Mercury easier than ever on the eyes, with breath-taking new styling front and rear, inside and out. Easier on the pocketbook, too. You can get more miles per gallon than even Mercury offered before. Come in and try it! You'll find Mercury hard to resist—easy to own!

Entertainer and Red-Haired Companion Held After Girl Admits Armed Robberies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An entertainer from California and his pretty red-haired companion faced armed robbery charges today growing out of the girl's confession they staged eight robberies in two weeks with a stage prop pistol.

The entertainer is Vernon G. Adams, 23, of Los Angeles, who was wounded seriously Monday when he waved the pistol at arresting officers.

His companion was Patricia Colleen Barry, 23, Chicago, who said she formerly lived in Rockford, Ill. She was held in the Bexar County jail.

Miss Barry said she and Adams left Chicago March 8 on an "excursion" she thought would result in marriage. She said their money ran out and "I get hungry easily," so they turned to robbery. She told police they staged one robbery in Baton Rouge, La., another in Houston, Tex., and four motel hold-ups and two burglaries in San Antonio. They were arrested while driving an auto police said was stolen in New Orleans.

Miss Barry said the .32 caliber pistol they used in the robberies was one Adams had for his impersonation of Johnny Ray singing "Cry." She said they met while she was a secretary in Chicago and Adams was working the Chicago television circuit.

Adams is a singer, handsman and display artist, Miss Barry said, and a former medical student and ex-medical corpsman in the Army. She said he spoke three languages fluently.

KILL WITH CARE

THE STORY: Two "monsters" parading in front of a movie house where a horror bill was showing, apparently stabbed Police Chief Otto Drover. The theater manager, who had been at a wedding, knew nothing of the "monsters," which everyone had thought was a publicity stunt for a horror film. Private Detective Jim Dunn, who also had been at the wedding and reception, has taken Nancy, daughter of the murdered chief of police, to headquarters to hear details of the tragedy.

III

Sergeant Early finished. "The killers got away clean. All they had to do was take off their wings, pull out the phony teeth, and we don't have an idea what they looked like. Some witnesses thought they were young. Some didn't."

Jim Dunn moved a little in his chair. "Let's try the why."

Mayor Stone asked, "Explain what you mean, young man."

"The motive. Why Drover? And why do it in this screwball way?"

"Any police officer makes enemies," Early said. "That's bound to happen. As to why it was done this way, I wouldn't know. Maybe because it was smart."

"Was the chief working on anything special?" Jim wanted to know. "Anything that might hook up with this?"

"Not that I know of," Early said. "I do know he got a phone call shortly before noon this morning. Just before he was due at the wedding. It seemed to upset him a little."

"What was it about?"

"I don't know that. I was in his office when he started talking. I didn't hear any names, and he waved me out right away."

"No sort of a record of incoming calls?"

"Not to the chief," Early said. "Wait a minute, though. Chief Drover—yes, here's his desk pad. He was a pretty active doodler while he talked over the phone."

For the first time, Nancy Drover made a sound, a strangled gasp suspiciously like a sob.

Early looked stricken. Mayor Stone said, "Miss Drover, this is terrible for you. Wouldn't you rather go somewhere else?"

"No, please. No. I couldn't. I don't believe any of this is really happening. I'm sorry, please go on."

Early hesitated, then moved aside so Jim and the mayor could see the desk pad. The top sheet was neatly bordered with lacy curlicues. The top center was nearly filled with roughly sketched piled cordwood with an A and a T above it. This apparently had been unsatisfactory, because it had been roughly scratched out. Below, and in apparent substitution, was a grove of trees with a small stick figure standing near-by. Under this drawing were the letters, G. G. G. G.

"Mean anything to you, Early?" Jim asked.

"I know the pad was empty, at least the first sheet was clean when I left. The chief had written some traffic instructions for me, tore the sheet off and gave it to me as I was leaving."

"We have a pile of wood," Jim went on. "And a grove of trees which also could be called a wood. The name Wood mean anything special to you?"

"Don't know anyone by that name, right off," Early said after thought. "Say, there is old Atwood, the banker. A friend of the chief's."

The door was pushed open by an officer carrying a parcel. "The boys just found this in the gutter at Twelfth and Elm. Three blocks from the corner by the theater."

The mayor took the bundle, put it on the desk, and let the long, light blue smock unroll. A cord mop was there, a peculiar peaked hat, a pair of yellow gloves, and a section of grained pink plaster or plastic, holding two, fanlike teeth. There was a small stain, possibly blood, on the right-hand yellow glove. There was a smaller stain on the corresponding cuff of the smock, and a much larger stain halfway up the lower arm. This last stain appeared to be the heaviest on the inside of the sleeve.

Stone reached for the teeth, and Jim caught his arm. "If you have n't facilities here, send it to the police lab in Denver. Pretty careless way to dispose of those things."

"Why?" Stone demanded. "That's a common sort of mop. That smock thing, I've seen many like it in garages and filling stations. The teeth, I suppose they might be
